

Pharmacy provide essentials for homeless

Lindsay & Gilmour have pledged their ongoing support for the life-changing work of homelessness charity Cyrenians with the donation of winter 'Crash Packs' containing essential toiletries for those who may find themselves homeless over the coming months.

The donation, which Lindsay & Gilmour have made for the third year running, comes as part of a business-wide fundraising effort to raise vital funds for the charity which supports people who are without a home or at risk of homelessness.

Lindsay & Gilmour are helping Cyrenians this winter. The Crash Packs, which contain a selection of items including shampoo, deodorant and sanitary products, were delivered to Cyrenians today and will be distributed to those most in need over the coming months.

Also this week, a number of Lindsay & Gilmour branches will be carrying out in-store fundraising activities for The Cyrenians, giving staff and customers the opportunity to get involved in some festive donating.

Lindsay & Gilmour Managing Director and Superintendent Pharmacist Philip Galt said: “We are delighted to show our support, once again, for the vital work carried about by Cyrenians throughout the year. Lindsay & Gilmour is proud of its role offering health care and advice within the heart of the local communities it serves and we believe it is important to remember those who made be facing crisis or exclusion from their communities at this time of year. “

This Christmas we’re celebrating the year of the young people through our new campaign ‘Door 24’. Every day we’re opening a new door on our digital ‘advent calendar’ to raise awareness about our life-changing work and encourage donations to help us continue this. <https://www.justgiving.com/campaign/door24>”
