

At Birch Tree Gallery till February

Jurgita Galbraith's Birch Tree Gallery on Dundas Street continues to show work by Shetland artist Peter Davis until 23 February.

While Davis captures the landscapes of the island he prefers to create a slightly abstract look.

Peter Davis works in Shetland

Davis is a watercolour artist who has a keen interest in hand made paint and is showing his works in a duo exhibition Stillness of Motion. The other part of the exhibition shows ceramics by Gillian McMillan who creates thrown-on-wheel or hand-built ceramics in porcelain and stoneware.
