

Man arrested at Haymarket railway station

British Transport Police have arrested a man who allegedly had a baton and a knuckle duster in Haymarket railway station on Saturday night.

He is due to appear in court on Monday following the incident.

A British Transport Police spokesman said: "These weapons have been removed from the streets and potential injury to others avoided.

"The male was taken to custody to appear at court on Monday."