

Police warning after pharmacy break-in Police investigating a break in to a pharmacy in Wallyford have issued a warning to the public following the theft of prescription medication.

The break-in happened between 1am and 1.30am on Wednesday 6 February at the Wallyford Pharmacy on Salters Road.

During this time a large quantity of medication was stolen from within.

The medication taken includes a quantity of Diazepam, Dihydrocodeine and Pregabalin tablets.

Officers are conducting enquiries into this incident and the public are advised not to consume any of the medication should it be found.

Inquiries have established that a male suspect arrived at the premises dressed in dark clothing, carrying a large gym-style holdall bag at the time of the break-in.

Detective Inspector Keith MacKay from Dalkeith CID said: "Our inquiries remain ongoing to establish the full extent of the stolen medication and we are working with the pharmacy at this time to do this. "Should any members of the public be offered this medication, or come across it in the local area, please do not consume any and hand it into a pharmacy, doctors surgery or police station immediately.

“We’re also eager to hear from anyone who can help us identify who is responsible for this theft, and anyone with information to help our inquiries is asked to get in touch.”

Those with information should contact Police Scotland on 101, quoting incident number 0467 of 6 February, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.
