

New development planned for Newhaven Road

Queensberry Properties has just begin its latest residential development in the capital.

There will be 36 properties of one, two and three bedrooms in the new flatted development at Newhaven Road.

Developers say that the exterior will be in keeping with the surrounding area and that this will be a significant landmark.

The location is bounded by the Waters of Leith and Newhaven Road with many having a private balcony or terrace. Off-street parking will be in the central courtyard. Homes should be ready for occupation in 2020.

Hazel Davies, Queensberry Properties' sales and marketing director, said: "We're delighted to be underway at Bonnington Mill, which is the latest in an impressive line of prime residential QPL projects in Edinburgh. 'Bonnington Mill' will bring a range of new apartments, all of a super quality commensurate with the Queensberry Properties' name, to an area of the capital with burgeoning residential demand, so we're very much looking forward to introducing our product to this market."