

Edinburgh student wins national animation award

Grant Holden of Edinburgh College of Art won the best animation prize at The Royal Television Society's (RTS) Scotland.

The event celebrated the best audiovisual work created by students at undergraduate and postgraduate level in ten categories across animation, comedy and entertainment, drama, short form, factual, production design, editing, sound, camera, and new this year – writing.

James Wilson, chair, said: “The judges were greatly impressed by the high standard and ambition of this year’s submissions.”
