Savills has launched a new Residential Lettings service in Edinburgh.

Charles McCosh has been appointed head of the new team, specialising in the letting and management of flats, townhouses and family homes.

Born and educated in Edinburgh, Charles pursued his passion for property down south where he enjoyed seven years running offices in London with Marsh & Parsons. He returned to Edinburgh in 2017 to join Rettie & Co and he is ARLA registered on both sides of the border.

Jane Cronwright-Brown Head of UK Residential Lettings said: “The opening of our first Scottish city lettings operation is an exciting addition to our Savills UK Lettings business. Charles has a strong track record in the sector, and we look forward to strengthening our service to our existing Scottish clients and welcoming new ones.”

Craig Timney, Head of Savills Edinburgh said: “We are delighted to welcome Charles McCosh on board, who has the calibre and experience to bring a new, high quality lettings service to the Edinburgh market.

“Savills Lettings will complement our Residential business and Charles will also be working closely with our Private Rented Sector (PRS)/Build to Rent and Residential Development colleagues. His skills make him a perfect fit for Savills business here in Edinburgh”.

Charles McCosh, Head of Savills Lettings in Edinburgh, said: “It’s great to bring Lettings to Savills Edinburgh, a business with an enviable reputation for delivering high quality property services. Savills UK has a network of successful lettings businesses, all of which benefit from the support of tried and tested systems and procedures. With this support in place, I aim to bring a comprehensive, proactive and fresh approach to Edinburgh's burgeoning rental market, on behalf of landlords and tenants alike."
