

The Big Big Gin Festival returns to the Corn Exchange

Whatever you know about gin you are bound to learn more at the festival taking place at The Corn Exchange next week.

Your first gin and tonic will be on the house, and you can even take the glass home with you. After that you can get any gin with a Fever-Tree mixer with garnish for only £5.

There will be sip samples and food to pair with your drinks and some quirky gin-inspired accessories to take home.

You can learn more at the Masterclasses, live music and a photobooth.

The festival will consist of three sessions, so there's something for everyone. For those looking to celebrate the end of the working week and help kickstart the festival, head along on Friday night, 7.00pm – 12.00am where there'll be no shortage of that Friday feeling!

Alternatively, if you're serious about learning more about the botanical beverage, grab a ticket to the Saturday daytime session, 12pm-5pm, for an eye-opening (and mouth-watering) experience.

Finally, if you want to join the party atmosphere as the festival ends with a bang, don't miss the Saturday night session, 7.00pm – 12.00am, when it's guaranteed everyone will be in high spirits.

Reliable public transport links are situated near the venue to enable festival-goers to get home safely or to take you straight to the city centre if you want to continue the fun.

Tickets are selling fast, so grab one while you still can at www.bigbigginfestival.com and discover why the best nights out begin with gin!
