Police in Edinburgh have released images of a man they wish to speak to as they believe he may be able to assist them with their enquiries in connection with an assault.

The incident occurred at around 1.45am on Sunday 21 April on the corner of Hanover Street and Thistle Street, which resulted in a man requiring hospital treatment.

The man in the images is described as white, in his twenties, around 6ft tall with a broad, muscular build. He had short dark-coloured hair and was wearing a grey or green-coloured jumper.

Detective Constable Andy Cory from Gayfield CID said: "This was an unprovoked attack, which left the victim with injuries which required hospital treatment.

"As part of our enquiries we're eager to hear from anyone who may have witnessed the incident. Hanover Street was busy at the time and we'd urge anyone who saw what happened to come forward.

"We believe the man pictured can assist with our enquiries. Anyone with any information to help us identify and trace him is asked to come forward as soon as possible."
