

Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2019 – Mandy Muden: Is Not The Invisible Woman

The magnificent, multi-award winning Mandy Muden is bringing a brand new show packed with mind blowing magic and camp comedy to this year's Edinburgh Festival Fringe.

Her spectacular performances on Britain's Got Talent 2018 and non stop performances around the world have made her familiar to millions and earned praise from a succession of celebrities.

David Walliams said "I don't get why you're not already a comedy superstar", while Amanda Holden commented "Your timing is brilliant, I love you" and Simon Cowell added "You are very unique, you're so likeable ... you're very naughty too."

Mandy Muden: Is Not The Invisible Woman is a chance to enjoy a tour-de-force of female empowerment from feisty, razor sharp-witted Mandy. The show will combine comedy, magic, mind reading, sleight of hand, saucy repartee and the occasional Tommy Cooper-style fumble.

Mandy said: "I'm thrilled to be back at the Fringe this year. My show will be an afternoon romp of magic, mind reading, audience participation and some good laughs."

Magic has been a part of Mandy's life since girlhood and she has become a pioneer for women in the field. Mandy is a trained actor and has made a multitude of TV appearances, including Faking It (Mentor) – Channel 4, The World's Greatest

Magic – Channel 4 and BBC 1's Dick and Dom's Funny Business.

She is also highly respected among other magicians, being a member of the Inner Magic Circle with Gold Star, the only woman to have hosted the Magic Circle and the only woman ever to receive the prestigious Magic Circle Carlton Award for Comedy in Magic.

For more about Mandy see www.mandymudenmagic.com

- Venue: Gilded Balloon, The Teviot – Balcony (Venue 14)
- Dates: 31 Jul, 1-11, 13-18, 20-26 Aug
- Time: 16:00
- Duration: 60 mins
- Ticket prices: £6 to £10.50
- Box office: <https://gildedballoon.co.uk> or 0131 622 6552
- Advisory: Ages 8+

