#brandambassador

It was game, set and match for Edinburgh tailor Andrew Brookes as he agreed a brand partnership with six-time Grand Slam champion and Davis Cup winner, the inimitable Scottish tennis player Jamie Murray this week.

Jamie won his first Grand Slam title at the age of 21 and has since won 21 ATP doubles titles and was awarded an OBE in 2016 for his services to tennis and charity. A champion in all senses of the word, Jamie is a true inspiration and embodies the Andrew Brookes Tailoring brand – confident, discerning and driven, with a passion for sport. Jamie has partnered with Andrew Brookes Tailoring as a brand ambassador with a bespoke collection of formal and casual wear being created for him.

Andrew Brookes, founder of Andrew Brookes Tailoring, said: “It’s really exciting to have Jamie Murray on board to represent our brand and we look forward to a successful partnership with him. We had a great meeting with him in London this week and have started the creative process, designing beautifully tailored garments and accessories that will work together for a series of casual and formal looks with accessories.

“This bespoke collection is being tailored for Jamie’s look and personality and will range from tailored suits and separates with bespoke handmade jackets, denim, polo shirts and T-shirts for a series of timeless and personalised off-court looks. With Wimbledon now underway, we wish him the best of luck and we will be rooting for him through the play offs.”
