

Two airport outlets win international awards

Brewdog and Barburrito are celebrating after winning awards at an international ceremony.

The two companies have food and beverage outlets in Edinburgh Airport and they were honoured at the Food & Beverage (FAB) Conference and Awards in Dallas.

Brewdog is Airport Bar of the Year for an airport with under 15,000 passengers.

Barburrito won Airport Food to Go in the European category.

Gail Taylor, Director of Retail and Property said: "It's brilliant to see two of our outlets being recognised on the international stage as it shows the quality of choice that is on offer at Edinburgh Airport.

"Both of these outlets were world airport firsts and the teams worked hard to make them a success, with these awards a recognition all of our efforts and they accompany the positive feedback we have had from passengers. We'll continue to improve our service and offering at Scotland's busiest airport."

Nick Ayerst, MD, TRG Concessions "This important recognition celebrates our efforts in bringing first-class dining and drinking experiences to Edinburgh's passengers and we believe that the awards also recognising the superior level of guest service that our whole team deliver every day."
