AMY BUILDS A GREAT SUMMER OF WORK EXPERIENCE WITH ALLANWATER HOMES

There's been a friendly new face in the Sales Office at Allanwater Homes Oaktree Gardens development in Alloa over the past few weeks!

Seventeen year old Amy Cunningham from Cambuslang, who attends Trinity High School, has been enjoying a stint of work experience with the family run housebuilder, which is onto its incredible eighth phase of sales at Oaktree Gardens.

A student of Business Studies and Spanish, Amy has completed three weeks of experience with Allanwater Homes, during which time she has carried out market research; attended construction meetings; observed sales enquiries being logged and actioned, together with making selections for kitchen and bathroom choices, which have then been offered to Allanwater Homes customers.

“I have really enjoyed my time with Allanwater Homes here in Alloa,” said Amy. “It’s just so varied being in a job like this, with no two days the same. I’ve seen what goes into the whole home buying process, from the construction side, through to customers choosing what extras they have in their new homes.”

“It’s back to school for me now this week, but overall it’s been a really worthwhile experience, and I would like to thank Allanwater Homes for having me.”

Said Sales Advisor Pamela Dickson: "Amy has been very friendly and pleasant to everyone who has come into the Sales Office. It's been lovely having her here for the past few weeks, and we all wish her well with her studies."
