

Three Hibs' youngsters go out on loan

Hibernian Development Squad trio Ben Stirling, Jamie Gullan and Josh Campbell have all completed loan moves that will initially run until January.

Stirling and Campbell will link up with Arbroath as manager Dick Campbell has been keen on the pair ever since the clubs met in the Betfred Cup earlier this year.

Gullan will re-join Raith Rovers, having impressed during a similar stint at Stark's Park last term.

All three will continue to train through the week at the Hibernian Training Centre and are available for the club's specially organised Development Squad games programme, following the decision to withdraw from the SPFL Reserve League.

This takes the total number of Development Squad players out on loan to 10, which is in line with Hibs' player transition strategy.
