

Pubs throughout Scotland asked to submit their top pies

The hunt for Scotland's best pub pie is under way and hostelrys from John o'Groats to Jedburgh, have been asked to enter.

Six judges will taste the entries including Gillian Mackenzie, editor of Scottish Licensed Trade News (SLTN), Emma Mykytyn, editor of Foodie Explorers and food & travel editor for SNACK Magazine, and Ross Traill, head chef of The Bridge Inn at Ratho

Two awards will be presented, Best Pub Pie Award, and the People's Choice Award voted by the pub-goers on the day.

Rachel Bucknall, owner of the organisers, The Bridge Inn at Ratho, said: "Our regulars love a pie to accompany a good beer.

"They are known as traditional Scottish comfort food which is why we want to celebrate one of the nations favourite dishes."

The deadline for entries is Friday, 4 October (5 pm) and the top five will be short-listed and judged at a blind tasting event on Thursday, 24 October at The Bridge Inn.

Tickets are on sale at £10 per person in return for five mini pies and a pint of Belhaven Best.

All those attending will have the chance to taste the shortlisted pies and tickets can be secured by calling 0131 333 1320 or via email at info@bridgeinn.com

To download an entry form or purchase tickets visit <https://www.bridgeinn.com/the-greatest-scottish-pub-pie-competition/>