

#GE2019 – the Edinburgh results – follow our liveblog here

There are five constituencies in Edinburgh and all of the results will be announced from The Royal Highland Showground where the media are assembled ready to get the interview with the candidates during the evening and eventually the newly elected MPs.

The Edinburgh Reporter will be there to bring you the latest news about who is going to take a seat in Westminster on Tuesday of next week.

There is an interactive map at the bottom of this page which will update as results are announced – and the numbers will also be shown in the interactive chart below too.
