

On a diet this January? Look away now...

Border Biscuits is tempting us today with their new snack bar, their first ever featuring our Editor's personal favourite the Dark Chocolate Ginger.

In the month when everyone is tightening their belts (or trying to) it is most unfair of them to launch this new treat!

They are made in the same way as their chocolate ginger biscuit and feature intense dark chocolate in an individually wrapped bar and we are told they have (just!) 113 calories each.

The Lanark based biscuit company was up early on Calton Hill today to get photos of a bumper sized pack. The one you will be able to buy at Sainsbury's or online will be a more convenient six in a pack.

John Cunningham, Managing Director at Border Biscuits, said: "The new Dark Chocolate Ginger Bar is an exciting step in the evolution of the Border Biscuits brand. It's our first individual snack bar which comes in response to the ever-changing habits of our consumers.

"At Border Biscuits we continuously aim to craft our product range to suit the emerging needs of our loyal customers and introducing new shoppers to the brand, so the new bars will be a welcome addition to our award-winning offering."
