

Robert Burns revered on Queensferry Street

The Scotland Shop are going big on Burns this weekend!

Monja who works in the Queensferry Street shop has drawn an enormous Burns to sit in the shop's window as part of a theme around Burns tartan and Chinese New Year.

A fashion graduate of Heriot-Watt University in Gala, Monja created the image on a tablet and the shop then had it blown up larger than life for this weekend when their window celebrates the coincidence of Chinese New Year and Robert Burns.

The image of the Bard will have a permanent home in the fitting room area to the rear of the shop.

We went along to see this art for ourselves.
