

Win a family day out to Tyrannosaurs with Edinburgh Trams

Edinburgh Trams offers you the chance of winning a family day out at the Tyrannosaurs exhibition at the National Museum of Scotland.

The prize includes a family ticket to the interactive exhibition, a family DAYticket for unlimited tram and bus travel on the day, and lunch in the Museum Brasserie.

Step back in time and see some truly roarsome sights including a life-size cast skeleton of 'Scotty', one of the largest and most complete T. rex skeletons in the world.

Find out more about 'tramasaurus', Guanlong, the online video sensation, who on arriving at Edinburgh Airport boards an Edinburgh Tram to get to the exhibition on time.

With cutting edge technology visitors can face up to life-sized dinosaurs and examine real fossils up close. Explore what made these creatures both ferocious and feared, and why making a joke about their tiny arms would not have been a good idea!

Feel like you want to triceratops your luck, head to <https://bit.ly/2GVUxpR> to enter. Tyrannosaurs runs until 4 May 2020.
