

Edinburgh firm keeping everyone safe at the zoo

Edinburgh firm GTS Solutions has a new business partnership with the Royal Zoological Society of Scotland (RZSS) at Edinburgh Zoo.

The zoo has reopened again after lockdown and GTS Solutions have been engaged to maintain a safe environment for visitors by providing stewarding there.

The firm's personnel will be on duty for the first time this Thursday and Operations Director Tracey Smith said: "We're very pleased to be supporting RZSS at this time.

"It is a privilege to be working with another high-profile tourist attraction in Scotland

"We are already working closely with Historic Environment Scotland at Edinburgh Castle and Stirling Castle and this latest partnership is another endorsement of the services which we deliver."

She added: "We pride ourselves on being a community interest company and a Disability Confident Employer working with people with disabilities and from disadvantaged backgrounds."

Jonathan Brown, events and experiences manager at Edinburgh Zoo said: "It is really exciting to bring our After Hours events back this summer and we're thrilled to be partnering with GTS Solutions to make our events as safe as possible for our visitors, staff and animals."
