

The Royal Scots Club – offering more for less

As the government's Eat out to Help Out scheme gets underway some of our local restaurants have confirmed that they are getting on board.

The scheme allows diners a discount of up to 50% or a maximum of £10 on any meal at a participating restaurant.

The Royal Scots Club must have one of the most spacious dining rooms in town, and they are allowing anyone to book for lunch, even if they are not members during the promotion. So you get more space around your tables and you will pay less for your meal.
