

Worbey & Farrell will come and play for you

The talented Worbey and Farrell are champing at the bit to get out and travel the world again, playing pianos as they go.

Since they cannot play concerts in their usual venues – or go to South African which was in their plans, they would like instead bring the concert to you.

Book them now for 40 minutes of fun and music in your living room. You need a piano, and they are not picky it does not need to be a Steinway.

The pop up concert will allow Steven and Kevin to perform for you while there is no live theatre allowed.

They have a very wide repertoire!
