

Barratt's development at The Limes is a sell-out

Housebuilders, Barratt Homes, has confirmed that its prestigious 'The Limes' development in Edinburgh has sold out following a surge in demand from buyers looking for some extra space.

The final homes available at the development were sold quickly with buyers snapping up the new five-star homes. Launched in 2017, The Limes is a 124 home development in the Scottish capital which has now grown into a bustling, family-friendly community.

Fortunately, for those who missed out on an opportunity to move into 'The Limes', Barratt East Scotland has confirmed that it will launch a neighbouring community soon. 'Lime Grove' will feature 115 three and four-bedroom homes – perfect for upsizers, families looking for more space and those looking to escape to a semi-rural location with plenty of amenities on the doorstep.

Anne Ross, sales director at Barratt East Scotland, said: "We have all spent a lot of time inside our homes this year and many have decided to make the move to a new home which is fit-for-purpose and built to the highest quality. The sell-out of 'The Limes' shows that many are looking for modern homes which have lots of space and which are nestled in new, vibrant communities.

“We’re going to continue to cater to that demand with the upcoming launch of ‘Lime Grove’ and we cannot wait to welcome buyers to the new development and show them exactly why we are one of the UK’s most award-winning housebuilders.”

For more details on the range of homes available at ‘Lime Grove’, visit the website and register for updates.