Coronavirus – today's numbers

The Scottish Government has announced another 806 cases of people who have tested positive for Covid-19 in Scotland since yesterday.

In Lothian 180 cases have been reported.

Over 300 of the positive cases are in Greater Glasgow, and the number of positive tests in Scotland now totals 28,604.

The number of cases represents 11.5% of those tested, and there are 14 people in intensive care in Scotland.