

Reservations open today at Waverley Square

Homebuyers can now reserve their new flat in the newest city centre development at Waverley Square in the Old Town.

There are 66 apartments, penthouses and mews available – and you can see exactly which properties are still available here on the development website. If you hover your cursor over the apartments they are highlighted in red or green depending on whether they are still for sale.

Queensberry Properties has built the development within the New Waverley development just off the Royal Mile. The apartments are very convenient for Waverley Station and range from a 603 square feet one bedroom home to penthouses on two floors, some with views across the skyline above the Waverley Valley. There is a landscaped communal courtyard and private parking under the development.

The selling agents believe that prices in Edinburgh will grow by 7% between 2021 and 2023.

Hazel Davies, sales & marketing director at Queensberry Properties said: “We are delighted to bring this highly-acclaimed new development to the market, set in arguably one of the world’s most desirable and historic locations. Waverley Square offers a wealth of amenities and unsurpassed connectivity right on the doorstep and is surrounded by striking architecture and a breath-taking city skyline, making it the ideal place to live, work and study.”

Calum Miller, Associate Director at Rettie, said: “We are pleased to bring another prestigious Queensberry Properties’ development to market. We are seeing soaring demand for new homes in Edinburgh, so it’s an exciting time to be able to offer our clients what we consider to be a truly unique residential offering in the heart of the capital.”

The Waverley Square apartments will be available to reserve from today by appointment only, with prices available on application. The virtual apartment selector system enables potential buyers to view the development with interactive technology that enables potential buyers to explore the location, experience the properties and download particulars.
