

Merienda is up to the challenge

From Friday night Merienda will deliver their delicious food to you at home – in a throwback to the way they dealt with lockdown – but with a difference.

Campbell at Merienda said: “With the latest government restrictions in hospitality, it’s hard for us to keep going, but we’re going to try.

“As a different tack from the previous lockdown, still in partnership with our sister catering firm Exec Chef Cuisine, we’re going to offer our brand new Small Plates menu which was scheduled to launch on Friday. We can either service this for you completed and ready to eat, or supply instructions for minimum finishing at home for you to cook and serve at your convenience.”
