

Result of council by election announced

Ethan Young SNP has been elected as the 63rd councillor in Edinburgh.

The Craigentenny/Duddingston by election count was held in the main chamber at the City Chambers and after just over three hours of counting votes, the result was announced.

Returning Officer for Edinburgh, Andrew Kerr, said: "I'd like to thank all those who took part in the by-election, despite the challenging circumstances we face. It's been a difficult year but local democracy is still extremely important, so I'm pleased to welcome Ethan Young, who will help represent the community as we work to emerge from the crisis, and on a range of other issues affecting the ward and city.

"I also want to take this opportunity to acknowledge the hard work and planning that has gone into staging this election. I've heard from many constituents who have praised the safe, physically distanced voting process, which is with thanks to our Elections Team, who have spent months preparing for the event."

Candidate	Party	First Preference Votes
FORD Elaine	Scottish Liberal Democrats	631
GRAHAM Margaret Arma	Scottish Labour Party	1205
LAIRD Tam	Scottish Libertarian Party	42
MCDONALD Andrew	Independent	93

Candidate	Party	First Preference Votes
PARKER Ben	Scottish Green Party	1185
PRICE Eleanor	Scottish Conservative and Unionist	1420
YOUNG Ethan	Scottish National Party (SNP)	2920

Total Electorate: 23,972

Total Number of Ballot Papers Received: 7,582 and 86 of these were rejected.

Percentage Turnout: 31.6%

Total Number of Valid Votes: 7,496

Quota: 3,749

Cllr Ethan Young with Council Leader Adam McVey
Council Leader Adam McVey said: "It's a fantastic endorsement not only of a fantastic candidate but also in the agenda that we for our city building a fairer city a more sustainable city, taking bold action to deliver the Edinburgh that people want to see in the next years and decade. It is worth saying that the Tories just a few days ago said that this would be a consideration of our record in office – well it is. The vote share for the SNP is up with a stinking majority for the administration parties and the Tory vote is down by a quarter as it has been every single election since I became Council Leader.”

Ethan Young said he could not wait to get started. He told us: “My election shows that people have faith in the SNP and our policies, and that we really want to improve people’s lives. “

The Greens increased their vote share from 11.7% to 15.8% and came within 20 votes of overtaking Labour whose candidate was in second place.

Green candidate Ben Parker said: “Congratulations to Ethan Young on being elected. Overall I’m pleased that the Green vote is well up, having fought a forward-looking campaign about tackling the housing crisis, making our streets safe for walking and cycling and protecting green space.

“It’s a sign that more voters than ever are tired of negative status quo politics and want to see the city move forward. The results bodes well for the Scottish elections in 2021 and the council elections in 2022.”

The seven candidates were:

Elaine Ford, Scottish Liberal Democrats

Margaret Arma Graham, Scottish Labour Party

Tam Laird, Scottish Libertarian Party

Andrew McDonald, Independent

Ben Parker, Scottish Green Party

Eleanor Price, Scottish Conservative and Unionist

Ethan Young, Scottish National Party (SNP)

The vacancy occurred earlier this year when SNP councillor Ian Campbell resigned due to ill health. The ward is currently represented by three councillors, Labour's Joan Griffiths, Conservative councillor John McLellan, and Green Alex Staniforth.