

Hibs game against Dundee United available to watch on Pay per View

Fresh from securing a Betfred Cup semi-final slot against St Johnstone, Hibs are back in action at Easter Road on Saturday when Dundee United come to town.

Kevin Nisbet (pictured) was rested for the midweek win at Alloa and is in contention for a return.

Alex Gogic and Sean Mackie will undergo further assessments, but Saturday's game is likely to come too soon for Jamie Murphy, who is inching his way towards a first-team comeback.

Season ticket holders have access to a live stream of all home league matches via Hibs Pass whilst non season ticket holders including away fans will be able to watch the action thanks to the club's Pay Per View option, which is priced at £15 and available now.

Premiership action means the return of The Match – with all the best Hibs-tinted coverage ahead of the big game from 2.30pm.

Presenter David Tanner is due to be joined in the studio by playmaker Scott Allan, while Dave Armstrong and Tam McManus are on hand to commentate on the action.

International Hibs TV subscribers will also be able to enjoy live coverage.

Hibs TV FAQs will hopefully be able to solve any issues fans may have but failing that, they should email hibstv@streamdigital.tv to talk directly to our partners at Stream Digital.

Posts to our social media channels may be missed around a busy matchday.
