

Edinburgh – a city to take a photo walk in

Photographer Thomas Haywood has been out and about in the capital today and as usual has had his camera with him.

Today was the most beautiful winter day, with a fine sunset at the end of it.

And these two he took when returning from a day trip on Christmas Day to visit family.

