

The views from fashionable St James Quarter

The new fashion district is arriving in town next week also has panoramic views across the city.

St James Quarter unveiled images of the views of the east end of Princes Street, St Andrew Square, the Old Town and Charlotte Square taken from a vantage point 55 metres above the capital.

Enlisting the help of top Scottish models and award-winning photographer, Jon Enoch, who captured the shots blending the views with some outfits from several of the brands opening their doors next week.

Guests are promised a unique shopping experience in Scotland's brand-new shopping district – with several brands opening in Scotland for the first time including & Other Stories, Stradivarius, Pull & Bear and Bershka.
