

Cyber Scotland Week – take part in free online conference on 2 March

Midlothian Third Sector Interface are holding a free online Cyber Resilience Conference on 2 March 2022.

This is aimed at anyone who works in the third sector and will be the only event combining guest speakers with some cyber essentials training.

Anthony Morris (Cyber Resilience Unit, Scottish Government) and Kevin Burns (Sight Scotland) who have helped third sector organisations become more cyber resilient will talk about keeping third sector organisations safe and the Third Sector Cyber Catalyst group (who help charities to be more cyber resilient).

CYBER RESILIENCE

FREE TRAINING NOW AVAILABLE!

SMALL CHANGES MAKE A BIG DIFFERENCE

CyberScotland

Scottish Government
Riaghaltas na h-Alba
gov.scot

CYBERSCOTLAND PARTNERSHIP

Third sector organisations are often targeted due to the sensitive data they hold, so this free conference will give third sector organisations the chance to learn more about cyber security, and to take part in interactive training on the basic building blocks of resilience.

Key by charity income

- UNDER £100K
- £100K TO UNDER £500K
- £500K OR MORE

£9,470

is the average annual cost for all charities that lost data or assets after breaches

15%
23%
46%

of charities in each income band had phishing emails

2%
6%
18%

had viruses or other malware, including ransomware

2%
5%
22%

had others impersonating them in emails or online

As part of the fun training session, Jill Bunyan will talk about cyber resilient behaviours such as using stronger passwords, scam/phishing emails, and device security to make sure attendees have the tools they need to protect their organisation.

Book free tickets:

Cyber Resilience Conference

Wednesday 2 March 2022

10:00-12:00 GMT

