

Head along to Craigies Farm this Easter for family fun

Queensferry-based Craigies Farm have announced they will hold an interactive Easter event, when families will help Little Bo Peep solve clues to find her mischievous missing sheep.

There will be an hour's play session in the on-site farm adventure park Little Farmers, and visitors can tuck into a delicious Easter-themed breakfast or lunch, meet the Easter bunny – and of course there will be Easter eggs aplenty.

The interactive experience has been designed by professional actor Neil John Gibson and the same team who brought 'The Elf Who Saved Christmas' to Craigies last December which was very popular.

John Sinclair, founder and owner of Craigies, said: "We have seen an increase in demand from families for seasonal activities, as demonstrated by the popularity of our Christmas experience last December.

"This event offers a unique Easter day out for families – they even get to meet the Easter bunny and our friendly sheep. Why not make a day of it by visiting the farm shop afterwards to stock up, and have a wander through around our fields to meet the rest of our animals!"
