

It's lambing time at Craigie's

Craigie's is a deli and café where Little Farmers, the adventure farm park, is the big draw for little ones to have their birthday parties.

But John and Kirsteen Sinclair the founders are first and foremost working farmers, and it is now well into the lambing season.

Kirsteen explained that this orphan lamb which had been rejected by its mother. Kirsteen said: "The mother was early having her lamb, so she lambed in the field rather than indoors. One of the other sheep tried to pinch the lamb from her. By the time we got out the mother thought she only had one lamb and she won't accept this one. We will bottle feed it until we get a mother with a single lamb and we will try and make her adopt it if we can."
