

Sam Heughan joins bikers on the Distinguished Gentleman's Ride in Edinburgh

On Sunday actor Sam Heughan joined the motorbike riders who were taking part in the Distinguished Gentlemen's Ride in Edinburgh.

Thousands of others were also taking part in cities all over the UK wearing their finest clothes. The ride draws attention to the one million men who die each year either from suicide or from prostate cancer and raises funds for cancer charities and also for their official charity partner Movember.

The ride has raised around £4 million for Movember this year.
