

Edinburgh Short Film Festival Announces 2022 Programme

The Edinburgh Short Film Festival is back from Friday 28 October – Sunday 13 November 2022 at Summerhall and Filmhouse.

The twelfth festival once again brings some of the world's best short films to Edinburgh and welcomes audiences back to the cinema to see what the organisers describe as "one of the strongest and most varied short film programmes anywhere".

The list is varied from Palme D'Or nominees to Annecy Animation Festival Winners and Sundance winning shorts to award winning shorts from across the globe.

Guest programmes from International Film Festivals including Brussels, Amsterdam, Munich, Adriatic & Buenos Aires alongside the best 2022 Scottish and UK short films.

A Kind of Love – Love knows no bounds in these shorts which explore the unexpected ways we experience feelings of warmth and adoration. Featuring Scottish animation, multiple international award-winning shorts and UK premiers, this programme also includes an engrossing drama-thriller, which won the Special Jury Award for Screenwriting at Sundance.
