

Modern Twists on Traditional Decor Trends That Will Never Go Out of Style

Home decor trends moderate and fluctuate almost constantly. What was in style last season will almost certainly be defunct by the turn of the new moon, and while decorating your space is always fun, there is a noticeable and present pressure to stay relevant. While that never goes away, there are thankfully certain classic features that will never go out of style and can be updated to feel more in keeping with the times. Here are some popular modern twists on traditional decor trends that will undoubtedly have a place in our homes until the end of time.

It is hard to find a house without photo memories, and courtesy of modern innovations, it has never been easier to create displays of memories to look upon in fresh ways. Pictures of family, friends, and core moments put a splash of heart and soul into any property. They are the difference between a house and a home. Thinking outside of the box and creating something a little different than a simple picture in a frame is a good way to add thoughtful warmth to a room. For example, try creating a photo calendar of 2023 for a unique feature with a dual purpose.

Warm Lighting

Candles will always be a go to method for adding coziness to an area, but they are not always practical or sustainable. For a more permanent approach, consider eco-friendly fairy lights with a warm glow, or LED dimmer bulbs for when the evening draws in. Whereas cold, bright lighting held its own for a while there, the soft glow is certainly making a comeback and it's easy to see why.

Pet Homages

This is certainly a nation that holds their pets in high esteem, something which is reflected heavily in decor choice. Olden days homes featured grand oil paintings and even taxidermy representations of the family animals. However, this has not translated well into modern living, and these trends certainly feel more at home in the manors of the past. Pets are still easily represented in living spaces through canvas style pictures hung proudly on the wall, bespoke paw prints, and even plastering their cute visages onto throw pillows or blankets.

Natural Wood

There is an undeniable appeal to an exposed beam of wood as a feature in a room, but it doesn't have to stop there. Skirting board trims that have been ceremoniously lacquered in bland, basic hues during recent fads are now being stripped back to their bare roots and exposed in all their authentic glory. Banisters and staircases are being sanded and varnished to highlight the original work and the results are unanimously appreciated.

Conclusion

Overall, it is quite simple to put a modern spin on old fashioned decorative stylings to bring the past into the present and make it last into the future. Some features were never meant to go out of style and while a blank canvas has a certain appeal, there is no beating warmth and comfort to make a home feel like a home.
