

Brunton's shows to go on – at other venues

The Brunton in Musselburgh has been closed temporarily, and the Theatre Trust have reached out to venues in Musselburgh, East Lothian and beyond to source alternative spaces for their packed programme of community and professional events.

The Trust has been heartened by the response from other venues offering support and space.

Michael Stitt, Chair of The Brunton Theatre Trust said “We’ve been deeply touched by the generosity and kindness shown by the people of East Lothian and the Scottish theatre community while we work hard to reschedule some ninety performances and events between now and June.

“Our performers and other venues have been incredibly accommodating at very short notice and we have had a positive response to the shows that have gone ahead so far.

“We’d like to thank our audiences, bookers and entertainers for their patience, support and good humour and would like to reassure them that the team at The Brunton is doing everything in its power to make sure that the show will go on.”

This is a list of rescheduled shows:

Fri 21 April 7.30pm

Lulu

New Venue: Gordon Aikman Theatre, George Square, Edinburgh

Extra tickets have been released for this previously sell out show. Lulu has made music and memories with the greatest of all time. Elton John wrote songs with her, Bowie produced and recorded with her, McCartney duetted with her and one of the Bee Gees married her. It's a story that has to be told and provides a once-in-a-lifetime insight into some of the world's musical legends. Join Lulu as she shares, for the first time, many untold stories, her memories and experiences with the greats – and enjoy with her the music that has been her constant companion. This is Lulu – For The Record.

Fri 22 April 7.30pm

G4

New Venue: Gordon Aikman Theatre, George Square, Edinburgh

Dubbed the Kings of Popera, G4 is one of the X Factor's most successful ever acts. With their unique style and unsurpassed trademark vocal harmonies, G4 have to be heard live to truly appreciate the power and passion of their voices.

Extra tickets have been made available for this exciting and memorable event.

Tuesday 25 April 2023 7.30pm

First Ladies of Country Music: The music of Patsy Cline & Tammy Wynette

New Venue: The Pleasance Theatre, 60 Pleasance, Edinburgh

Sold Out

The Bistro which is open at The Brunton, is not impacted by the building issues affecting the performance spaces and is available for pre-show meals.

Tickets are available online at www.thebrunton.co.uk or by calling 0131 653 5245

Brunton Theatre