

Deadline looms for Hearts season ticket renewal

Hearts season ticket holders are reminded that they have until Saturday at 5pm to renew their passes for next season in the cinch Premiership.

Tynecastle bosses have frozen prices and they sold out seasons last term with 15,000 securing their seat for every game.

There is a waiting list with several thousand more supporters anxious to join the party.

A statement said: "The club are acutely aware of the financial challenges faced by many of our loyal supporters as a result of the on-going cost of living crisis.

"Indeed, the club itself is having to contend with a significant rise in costs across all areas of the operation. Nevertheless, we feel it is important to do all we can to minimise the financial impact on our incredible supporter base."

Meanwhile, two Hearts players have been included in Scotland's squad for matches against Norway and Georgia. Goalkeeper Zander Clark and skipper Lawrence Shankland were named by Steve Clarke earlier this week.
