

Five things you need to know today

Exam results

For those of you who sat exams this year, we hope you all got the results you need for your onward career. Of course that is really wishful thinking. Not everyone will have passed with the necessary grades. But help is at hand for a few days this week from Skills Development Scotland.

The Skills Development Scotland (SDS) Results Helpline is staffed by more than 30 expert careers advisors and opens on Tuesday 8 August for four days. The service provides impartial careers advice and guidance on the next steps to students, and their parents and carers, following receipt of their exam results.

The Edinburgh International Festival has got off to a golden start with music in Princes Street Gardens over the weekend from the GRIT Orchestra, accompanied by hundreds of musicians and singers, both amateur and professional. This was the biggest opening event simply due to the number of performers on stage – at one point 300 people performing together. A far cry from the large scale projections favoured by erstwhile Director, Fergus Linehan which were so bold and daring at the time. But these are changed times, and it is back to basics under the direction of classical violinist Nicola Benedetti, CBE.

HRH The Duke of Edinburgh

His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh has been in Edinburgh these last couple of days firstly attending the Opening Fanfare in Princes Street Gardens and also the event at The Hub on Sunday evening.

Then attending the Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo on Monday evening when he took the salute.

Sir Grayson Perry

The big name in town (literally if you have a look at the Royal Scottish Academy) is Sir Grayson Perry.

This weekend as well as the largest exhibition of his work ever, there will be an exhibition of his graduation robes in Jigsaw Edinburgh at 48 George Street. And they are stunning.

Designed by University of the Arts London students and worn during his time as Chancellor, several will be displayed at Jigsaw in Edinburgh from 11-13 August.

Capital firm living the Barbie dream

By PHYLLIS STEPHEN

RACHEL HANRETTY started her business, Mademoiselle Macaron, in Edinburgh in 2013. Now some ten years later her trademark products - beautiful macarons - have a starring role in the very pink Greta Gerwig directed blockbuster movie of this summer, Barbie.

The pink delicacies were ordered in five flavours to be delivered to Warner Brothers Studio in Leavesdon, and not just as a perk for the cast, but to appear in a café in Barbie Land.

This was easy for the company based in Bonnington which produces more than 30,000 macarons each week. Rachel learned how to craft the sweet treat in Paris where she first tasted a vanilla macaron on the Champs-Élysées. She attended the Alain Ducasse cookery school in the French capital to perfect making the macarons which is now the centre of her business.

Mademoiselle Macaron products have been on screen before. They appeared on Strictly Come Dancing in 2021 during a dance based in a bakery when a tall tower of macarons appeared on the set. And there is at least one big name that can be revealed as a macaron lover. Courtney Love is a repeat customer who orders their vegan product - and no, we don't know how they make them - the recipe is secret. And in exciting news the business is commissioned to colour match the new Revlon lipstick range in just the right shade.
