Hole in the finances at Bross Bagels

Despite claims that the company was trading as normal it is now clear after a joint investigation by The Edinburgh Reporter and The Edinburgh Guardian that the Edinburgh-based bagel company is in liquidation with debts of around £1.2 million.

Court of Session live

The petition by Scottish Ministers for Judicial Review of the Gender Reform (Scotland) Bill has been lodged at the Court of Session. A procedural hearing will be heard on Wednesday and you can watch the proceedings online. Two hours has been set aside although the substantive hearing will be heard in September.

This comes after the Scottish Government passed the bill into legislation but it was blocked by the UK Government using the S.35 procedure for the first time.

Design a statue for Edinburgh Park

Edinburgh Park and its owner is well known as a patron of the arts.

Now they are looking for emerging artists to propose contemporary sculpture commissions to be placed in Edinburgh Park.

A spokesperson said: "This is the first year of the award and it is open to visual artists who are either from Scotland or based in Scotland. This opportunity is open to artists who are in the final year of their BA or studying a Masters, or who have graduated in the last five years. We will work with universities across Scotland to engage their students and graduates and also with artist's studio groups across the country."

Edinburgh World Heritage

The body charged with looking after the conservation of the two World Heritage sites in the city, Edinburgh World Heritage (EWH) has put out a plea for funds from the public, saying that their core income has decreased dramatically and that without additional income their work is not sustainable.

The organisation is hoping to raise £20,000 by the end of September.

An email from EWH said: "We're writing to ask you to help us by giving a donation today to ensure that:

- The physical conservation of our city continues in these challenging times of rising costs for both skilled workers and appropriate materials
- Inclusive heritage projects continue to develop cohesive communities, with a strong sense of belonging to this special city

- Actions to mitigate the impacts of climate change on Edinburgh are identified

- The city's World Heritage Site status is sustained, and is a positive benefit to those who live, work and study in, and visit Edinburgh

"We appreciate your ongoing support and hope that you can consider making a donation today. Online donations can be made at <https://bit.ly/EWH2023> or cheques can be sent to: Edinburgh World Heritage, Acheson House, 5 Bakehouse Close, Edinburgh EH8 8DD

Our August issue

Our August newspaper is on the streets now and we hope you like it.

Our cover story is about Rachel, with a strapline to our exclusive story about the leader of the Scottish Liberal Democrats.

And inside we have a feature from George Mair who is writing for us for the first time this month – and loads of sport from both Nigel Duncan and Bill Lothian.

Capital firm living the Barbie dream

By PHYLLIS STEPHEN

RACHEL HANRETTY started her business, Mademoiselle Macaron, in Edinburgh in 2013. Now some ten years later her trademark products - beautiful macarons - have a starring role in the very pink Greta Gerwig directed blockbuster movie of this summer, Barbie.

The pink delicacies were ordered in five flavours to be delivered to Warner Brothers Studio in Leavesdon, and not just as a perk for the cast, but to appear in a café in Barbie Land.

This was easy for the company based in Bonnington which produces more than 30,000 macarons each week. Rachel learned how to craft the sweet treat in Paris where she first tasted a vanilla macaron on the Champs-Élysées. She attended the Alain Ducasse cookery school in the French capital to perfect making the macarons which is now the centre of her business.

Mademoiselle Macaron products have been on screen before. They appeared on Strictly Come Dancing in 2021 during a dance based in a bakery when a tall tower of macarons appeared on the set. And there is at least one big name that can be revealed as a macaron lover. Courtney Love is a repeat customer who orders their vegan product - and no, we don't know how they make them - the recipe is secret. And in exciting news the business is commissioned to colour match the new Revlon lipstick range in just the right shade.
