Edinburgh's dynamic workforce consists of tech-savvy and mobile-first individuals. JobToday stands out as the best mobile app for recruitment in the UK, attracting a predominantly young audience, with 79% of job seekers being younger than 35 years old. By tapping into this demographic, you gain access to a fresh and vibrant pool of talent.

Efficiency is key when it comes to recruitment. JobToday's advanced automation tools streamline your HR screening process, making it faster and more effective. From automatic shortlisting to AI-driven candidate recommendations, you can optimise your hiring workflow and find the perfect match for your business.

For larger organisations, JobToday offers tailored HR recruitment services. With customizable plans and solutions, multiple linked accounts, and a dedicated account manager, corporate clients can enjoy the flexibility and personalised attention to meet their unique hiring needs.

Unlike traditional job boards that charge per job placement, JobToday offers a flexible subscription model. Post an unlimited number of job openings and use credits only to contact the candidates you're interested in. This cost-effective approach allows you to have greater control over your recruitment process without breaking the bank.

When it comes to job advertising and recruitment, JobToday is the game-changer you've been waiting for. Embrace the power of this award-winning mobile app and streamline your hiring process today. Don't miss out on the opportunity to discover your perfect match swiftly and efficiently. Advertise a job on JobToday and find your next team member in no time!
