

Dog of the Week – Bella

Meet Bella, a charming four year old Rottweiler crossbreed who now really needs a forever home.

The lovely Dog's Trust people tell us that Bella's heart is "filled with warmth and affection", particularly for the people she knows and trusts. She is at her happiest when basking in the gentle affection and back scratches from her family. Bella's ideal home includes children aged 16 and above, and she would prefer to be the sole pet in the household.

A spokesperson said: "Bella is a delightful dog who brings joy with her adorable face and goofy personality. She thrives in a calm and supportive environment, making her a perfect match for owners who can help build her confidence.

"Walks are a source of pure delight for Bella, where she can explore and savour the world through her sense of smell. Her leash manners are impeccable, making strolls with her a breeze. Playfulness is another of Bella's endearing traits, as she loves chasing after her toys and engaging in spirited games of fetch, especially with her cherished soft teddy bear. A garden where she can frolic and play with her family, including plenty of zoomies, would be her dream come true.

"Bella's intelligence shines through, as she is eager to learn and loves to showcase her skills, especially for tasty treats. She's content being left alone for a few hours but would thrive in a home where someone is around most of the time, offering companionship and support as she settles into her new environment."
