

Linlithgow extension plus latest on land and sea fishing

Linlithgow Loch has been granted an extension so anglers can now fish on Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 9am to 4pm during November, and the prospects look good.

Tom Lambert, secretary of the Forth Area Federation of Anglers, who run the fishery, said that floating lines can work on the East Side of the lake which is shallower while other areas have produced with intermediate lines and lures.

Booking is advised but not essential.

Nearby, Millhall near Polmont report that their regular season is over but fishing continues at weekends.

A spokesman said that the loch “fished its socks off” last weekend with lots of big catches reported by multiple anglers.

Floating and midge-tip lines were in use by the majority of anglers with damsel, Ally McCoist, FAB, blob, buzzer and cormorant patterns all accounting for fish.

Egg and shimmie patterns also worked under a bung.

Top rods included Robbie Gibson who returned 22 fish, B Heggie with 21 fish, S Merrier had 18 fish, G King and R Weir each had 16 fish, S Pozzi had 14 fish and J Whitlam and D Merrier returned 12 fish each.

Bowden Springs near Linlithgow is also fishing well. Peter Dancer from Oban has not fished for some years but cast a line and landed seven on yellow dancer while Mr McGeechan had two of 6lb on app and buzzer patterns.
