Carlton cricket hold their prize-giving ceremony

Dan Da Costa collected four trophies when Carlton cricket club staged their annual prize giving in mid-winter allowing players and members an opportunity to get together in the close season.

Dan won the 1st X1 batting award as well as trophies for wicket keeping and six-hitting.

He was also named "Player's Player of the Year" and is pictured alongside Sarah Beith who was "Women's Player's Player of the Year".

Women's Player of the Year is Maisie Maceira, right, who is pictured receiving her trophy from colleague Sam Haggo (women's batting prize). Maisie was also best women's bowler.

A notable annual prize at Carlton is the Jimmy Jappy Trophy commemorating a club stalwart of yesteryear and recognising outstanding service at the Grange Loan-based outfit.

Winner in 2023 was David Simpson, right, who was presented with the accolade by ex-club captain and president, Hugh Parker.

Other notables honoured included Rory Allardice (1st X1 fielding), Shujaa Khan (best individual performance), Tom Hathorn (best introduction to senior cricket), Flora Corbin (best women's fielding) and Arun Pillai (1st X1 bowling).

Lower teams roll of honour:

Charlie Kentish (2nd X1 batting), Armaan Bedi (2nd X1 bowling), Ben Stonach (2nd X1 fielding), Holly Sladen (women's 2nd X1 batting), Sonia Amin (women's 2nd X1 bowling), Libby Wallace (women's 2nd X1 fielding), Paul Kentish (3rd X1 batting), Brad McKay (3rd X1 bowling), Shaun Smith (3rd X1 fielding), Chris Sale (4th X1 batting), Shreyas Tekale (4th X1 bowling), Dan Mowat (4th X1 fielding), Tom Hathorn (5th X1 batting), Rahul Khadse (5th X1 bowling), Aadi Khadse (5th X1 fielding).

Picture credits: Gavin Murray