

Here come the loony dookers

Thousands gathered on the beach at Portobello to watch or take part in the unofficial Loony Dook – the best way to ward off any hit of excess from Hogmanay.

Young and old took a run for it into the sea, perhaps made a little easier by the fact that the weather was bright and sunny, but there were a few who turned back at the water's edge.

Loony Dook Portobello 1 January 2024

Ali. Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam

Loony Dook Portobello 2024

Loony Dook Portobello 2024

Mikayla and Luke from Dublin and Yorkshire. Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam

Loony Dook Portobello 2024

Emma. Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam

Loony Dook Portobello 2024

Loony Dook Portobello 2024

River (9). Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam

Amanda. Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam

Loony Dook Portobello 2024

James. Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam

Loony Dook Portobello 2024

Melissa from Australia. Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam

Caroline and Sarah. Loony Dook Portobello. © 2024 Martin McAdam