Leith artist carves out new look for Athletic

By STEPHEN RAFFERTY

THE LEGACY OF world famous artist and Leither Eduardo Paolozzi is helping to support the work of a local football club for which it is believed members of his family played.

The eye-catching special edition Paolozzi football shirt was launched to increase community awareness of Leith Athletic and to raise funds for the launch of girls and women's teams.

The initial run sold out immediately and a new edition - produced on the 100th anniversary of Paolozzi's birth on 7 March - is being shipped worldwide as fans and collectors from as far away as Australia, Brazil, America and The Netherlands, snap up the shirt.

Paolozzi, widely credited as the father of pop art, was born in Leith in 1924 to Italian immigrants and after graduating from the Edinburgh School of Art, became established as a sought-after sculptor, designer, printmaker and in later life, a teacher and academic.

Knighted in 1989, Paolozzi later donated a large body of his work and the contents of his studio to The Scottish National Gallery of Modern Art. Members of Leith Athletic's fledgling girls' squad (left) visited the Modern Two gallery on Belford Road to experience the "Paolozzi at 100" free exhibition which runs until Sunday 21 April.

Hugo Burge Foundation Visual Arts Residency

Hugo Burge was turning Marchmont House into an arts venue before his sudden death. Now the foundation set up in his name is offering a residency for a “visual artist working with any medium who has an interest in art as activism and whose work advocates for social, political, environmental, or cultural change”.

The residency will offer a period of self-directed research and development followed by the opportunity to exhibit the resultant work in the Summerhall Galleries between December this year and February 2025.

It is a fully funded residency that includes exclusive studio space in the large Old Squash Court studio, accommodation in one of Summerhall’s Hobbit Pods, and a weekly stipend of £350 which will be paid to the artist at the start of the residency.

More information on the Summerhall website. Deadline is 15 May.
