

Most popular log cabin model revealed

Log House Scotland has revealed its most popular model. The business which began after an increase in investment in the home and garden both during and after lockdown has gone from strength to strength.

The company is now Scotland's premier supplier of eco friendly log cabins and garden houses of all types, and has announced that its Kilkenny Log House, a fantastic, fully constructed and complete with full insulation, tile effect steel roof and premium German made PVC window – all for under £10,000 – is officially Scotland's most popular model since the business began in 2021.

Based within Caulders Garden Centre in Cumbernauld, where it has a custom built show cabin area and sales office, the company offers a craftsman built product which is constructed with the finest Scandinavian pine, the only wood used by the business for its products. Along with being highly durable, the pine weathers to a beautiful silver colour.

Available at the special offer price of £9,999 until end of April 2024 which covers full installation of the cabin in your garden, The Kilkenny is sized at 4m x 3m as the standard model and other sizes are available.

Nicola Miller, from Log House Scotland said: "Our solidly constructed Log Houses offer multiple uses, such as gyms, play rooms, music rooms, or as a work space, but equally can just be used as a space in which to relax, and view your garden.

“You will find that with one of these structures enhancing your garden, you will use your garden far more – it will become your go to bolthole.”

Taking care of everything in house from point of sale, through to installation and customer aftercare, Log House Scotland makes adding a garden house as easy and affordable as possible. These practical and aesthetically pleasing buildings stand on their own foundations, and are an asset to any garden. A full 10-year guarantee is provided with every product purchased.

Nicola said: “Take advantage of this great special price offer on the Kilkenny, and you could have your very own Log House in your garden ready for the summer season.

“You’ll be joining many of our existing Scottish customers who have invested in a Kilkenny, delighted with the quality, the price point, and the hassle free installation by our skilled in house team.

“Our parent company originated in the Republic of Ireland in 2007, where it operates from four locations, with a reputation for excellence. Seeing a gap in the market after the pandemic, the business was brought to Scotland where it has grown steadily under our Scottish brand, Log House Scotland. When you buy with us, you’re buying into our larger Log Cabin Group which now supplies over twenty countries across Europe, and has its own team of sales associates, designers, architects and project managers with over fifty years of combined experience in the building industry.

“We can also customise certain models to a client’s specific requirements, adding extra floor space, extra windows, and many other enhancements – talk to us now, and, most importantly, come along to the showroom at Caulders and enjoy a full tour.”
