

New store opening at Fort Kinnaird

Mountain Warehouse is to open a new store at the shopping centre at Fort Kinnaird.

UK outdoor retailer, Mountain Warehouse plans a new-look larger store extending to 9,772 square feet over two floors, with a range of womenswear, children's clothes and shoes and outdoor equipment on the ground floor, and menswear on the first floor.

It will be located next to Sports Direct and opens on Saturday 23 March, with bestsellers such as walking boots and waterproof jackets, as well as everything else families need for their outdoor adventures all available this spring.

Liam Smith, centre director at Fort Kinnaird, said: "It's brilliant to see Mountain Warehouse moving to a much larger store – more than double its current space – to enhance the experience and range available for shoppers. It has always been popular with visitors and I'm sure that will only continue – we look forward to the store opening the doors this weekend!"

A Mountain Warehouse spokesperson said: "We're delighted to be opening a bigger and better store at Fort Kinnaird, and excited to continue to share our passion for adventure and great value outdoor gear for all the family, even the dog!"

More information on stores and restaurants at Fort Kinnaird on their website: <https://www.fortkinnaird.com/>

