

The Most Instagrammable Restaurants and Cafés in Edinburgh

Are you in Edinburgh or planning to visit? Then, you can get some of their fantastic food. Edinburgh has its share of great restaurants and cafes to give you a taste of Scotland. This post will look at several of them. Even if you don't plan to visit, these Instagram posts will whet your appetite. Also, visit ViralGrowing to learn how to grow your account. There, you can boost your Instagram and gain more fans for your profile.

3 Blind Mice

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by Giraffe's Food Adventures (@giraffesfoodadventures)

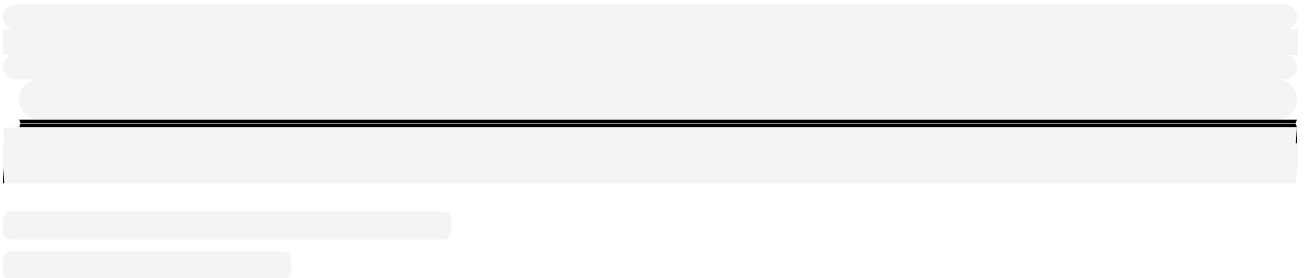

Let these mice lead the way if you're looking for some great pizza. 3 Blind Mice has many craft pizzas to choose from, alongside some frosty drinks. They also have salmon, tartare, and other unique dishes if you're feeling something more regal. As you can see from this photo, they have traditional pizzas alongside some delicious veggie dishes. Who says that a pizza place has to be unhealthy?

Doctors

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by The Doctors Edinburgh (@doctorsbaredi)

Very few people are excited to go to the doctor's. But many people are excited to go to Doctors. Doctors have plenty of pub food to choose from. Visitors can grab themselves a delicious burger or try some Scotland favorites. For example, they have haddock goujons. These are fish filets made from haddock, a fish found in Scotland. As you can see from this picture, Doctors have plenty of pubs to go around, whether alone or with many friends. So take a visit to Doctors for your health.

Haldi

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by ██████ | Indian Bistro Edinburgh (@haldi.edinburgh)

No matter where you are in the world, Indian food reigns supreme. It's packed with flavor, it's filling, and it's great for the whole family. Haldi is an excellent location to visit when you're in Edinburgh. It has butter chicken and naan alongside more obscure Indian dishes. As you can see from this photo, not only does the food look delicious, but it is a place where you can kick back, relax, and enjoy a good book. It's delicious for both newcomers and experienced fans of Indian food.

Quick & Plenty Cafe

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by Johnny Clason (@quickandplentycafe)

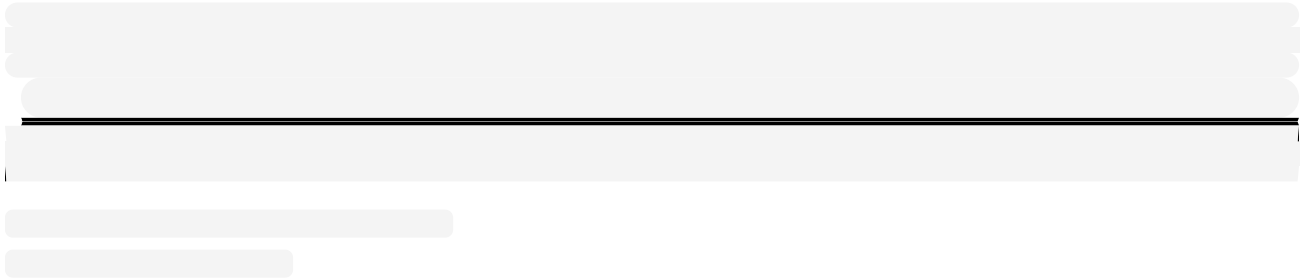

Another cafe that you may want to try is Quick & Plenty. It's been a staple of Scotland for over 100 years, opening in 1923. One feature of this cafe is that they have an all-day breakfast!

Don't you hate it when you get up late or have another reason why you missed breakfast? Well, at Quick & Plenty, you can have an all-day breakfast. Also, you can get a full breakfast, which Scotland is known for. Their breakfast has egg, sausage, bacon, haggis, scones, beans, black pudding, and more. After eating it, you'll be so full you may not need another meal all day.

Makars Mash Bar

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by Makars Mash Bar – Edinburgh (@makarsmashbar)

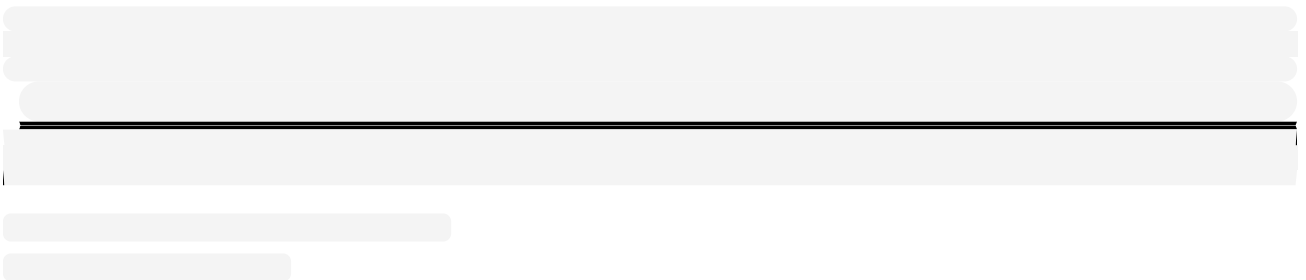

If you're new to Scotland, Makars Mash Bar may be one of the best places to start. This place has it all, from haggis starters to lamb shanks. When you order, you can also choose your mash at the end. Would you like some cheese mash? How about black pudding? If you want vegan options, they have those as well. Just look at this photo. No matter where you're from, everyone loves a good mash.

Tapas3

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by Tapas3 (@tapastres)

If you're looking for a Spanish experience, then visit Tapas3. For those who do not know what tapas is, it's Spanish for an appetizer. They have many great appetizers, from calamari to peppers. Also, they have delicious dishes—for example, the dish in the picture. You may enjoy octopus with mash, potatoes, tomatoes, or capers if you like it. Of course, if you are a vegetarian or vegan, Tapas3 has plenty of options for you as well.

Quinn's Cafe

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by ██████████ (@l_by_98)

Let's return to the world of traditional Scottish cafes with Quinn's. It's similar to several on this list, complete with all-day breakfast, tea, and that full breakfast you'll love.

What we enjoy about this cafe is how old-timey it looks. Its exterior looks like it could come from a long past, yet its interior is up-to-date. As you can see from this photo, it's a great place to enjoy Scottish food, especially if you're a tourist. But even native Scots love this place, meaning that it must be great.

The Tollhouse

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by @thetollhousecanonmills

If you want a fancy dinner, why not visit The Tollhouse? This place uses locally sourced ingredients and brings some incredible dishes. For example, baked cod, braised ox cheek, roast duck breast, and drinks galore.

It's a great place to go on a date, with friends, or even as a meal yourself. You'll immediately notice the fresh ingredients popping out when you look at this photo. It's mouth-watering, isn't it? So, you can't go wrong here if you're looking for a premium experience.

Mary's Milk Bar

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by Robyn (@mrs_robyn_laura)

We've listed many places to go if you want dinner or breakfast. But what if you just have a sweet tooth? Then, you may want to head over to Mary's Milk Bar.

This place is a Scottish legend for a few reasons. The ice cream is handmade every morning, so you get something fresh and delicious. Also, they change their flavors often. Just when you think you've tried them all, they will surprise you with some unique and tasty flavors. Overall, it's an excellent place to try when you're done exploring or during. Also, as you can see from this photo, there is a long line during peak hours. But there's a reason for that. It's just plain worth it. So if you go, bring some entertainment or visit during the off-season.

Final Thoughts

These are several restaurants Edinburgh has to offer. As you can see, they have both restaurants that bring traditional Scottish dishes to the modern world and more diverse places to visit. Not only that, but there are some great places for desserts. And as a reminder, this is only a tiny sampling of their foods. Odds are, you can see and find a hole in the wall that we didn't mention. So when you visit, come hungry, and leave room for seconds.