

Top-ranked Aussie Tennis Players After Australian Open 2024

Australia has always been one of the leading countries that produces the best tennis players in the world. Australia has been blessed with extremely talented tennis players and this generation is also no different. In this article, we have covered the top-ranked Aussies tennis players. You can also bet on tennis players only at <https://i-ggbet.com/en>.

ATP rankings of Australian tennis players

The highest-ranked Australian tennis player is Alex de Minaur, who is at no. 11 in the list of ATP's top players after the Australian Open 2024. ATP (Association of Tennis Professionals) revealed the list of the top 100 tennis players of the world and nine Australian players currently sit in this list. Here is a list of the top Aussie tennis players after the Australian Open:

1. Alex de Minaur– Alex is a famous Australian tennis player known for his great skills. He ranked 11 in the list of ATP's top 100 players, with 2,970 points. He has succeeded 7 ATP Tour titles in singles and 1 in doubles.
2. Max Purcell– Another Australian professional tennis player Max Purcell ranked 41 in ATP's top 100 with the points 1051. He is now the No. 4 Australian player in singles.
3. Jordan Thompson– Jordan Thompson is a highly professional and skilled tennis player, who is currently placed at the world rank of 42 in ATP's top 100. And now he is in second position on the list of Australian singles players.
4. Max Purcell– Another Australian professional tennis player Max Purcell ranked 41 in ATP's top 100 with the points 1051. He is now the No. 4 Australian player in singles.
5. Alexei Popyrin– Alexei Popyrin ranked 45 in the ATP's top 100 with 1012 points. He started his career as a professional player in 2017 and now he is one of the top-ranked players globally.
6. Christopher O'Connell– Christopher O'Connell is another great Australian tennis player who ranked 67 in the ATP table with 854 points.

7. Aleksandar Vukic– Aleksandar Vukic is also in ATP's top 100 list at the rank of 69 with 810 points.
8. Thanasi Kokkinakis– Athanasios "Thanasi" is an Australian tennis player who is ranked at no. 79 by ATP with 716 points. Kokkinakis also retains a career-high ranking of world no.15 attained in 2022.
9. Rinky Hijikata– Rinky Hijikata is at the position of 84 in the list of ATP's top 100 players with 697 points.
10. James Duckworth– James is an Australian player who has gained the rank of 97 in the ATP's top 100 with 632 points.

How do tennis rankings work?

World Tennis rankings are computed by the ATP, who award position and points based on the performance of the players at particular tennis tournaments. The better a player performs in a sanctioned tournament, the more points will be granted to them.

Final words

ATP updates the rankings of the players every Monday when any specific tournaments aren't playing. So, you can check the weekly updates of ATP to stay connected with the most recent updates of tennis players.